A LEADER IN ISRAEL

CHRISTIAN ROHRER. Another Honored Resident of the County Passes away.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A fatal accident happened on the 5th of July, by which Bro. John Forrer, of Wayne county, Ohio, and one of his grandchildren, Carrie Bell Orr, lost their lives. On the afternoon of the 5th of July, Bro. F. left home, accompanied by her grandfather, to visit his son-in-law, Christian Orr of Summit county, Ohio, some 15 miles distant. When almost at the end of their journey they had to cross the N. Y. P. & O. R. R. where they were struck by a locomotive and both instantly killed. Bro. Forrer's age was 60 years, 6 months and 25 days, and that of his granddaughter Carrie Belle Orr 12 years, 9 months and 20 days. The latter was buried on the 20th in the Beech Grove graveyard in Wayne county, and Bro. F.'s remains were taken back and interred in the Pleasant Hill graveyard in Milton township, Wayne county, on the 8th, followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends. He leaves his widow, one son and nine daughters to mourn their sudden loss. All of his children attended the funeral except one daughter, Martha, who lives in Oregon, and one son, Christian, who lives in Kansas. Funeral services were held by J. K. Yoder in German, and David Erwin in English, from Rev. 16: 15.

Rev. Amos Herr the Oldest Minister of the Mennonite Church.

WENT TO HIS HEAVENLY HOME.

The Funeral, on Tuesday June 22nd, was One of the Largest That Has Occurred in This County.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, and their works do follow them." These words of Scripture could not be better exemplified than in the case of Rev. Amos Herr, who departed this earthly life about two o'clock on Saturday morning at his home at Lime Valley. He had been troubled for several years with rheumatism, but would always attend to his duties when possible, even at inconvenience to himself. About two months ago he was affected with paralysis, which together with his advanced age caused a general decline, until nervous prostration and heart trouble resulted in his decease. Born February 23, 1816, upon the farm where he has resided all his life, he has some in and out among the people for 81 years, 3 months and 27 days. His life has been a living epistle, known A. Homan of Missouri; Mrs. W. Bachman and Mrs. Elias McElrager of Strasburg township, and Elmira of Illa, at home.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, at the Strasburg Mennonite church, and the attendance of relatives, friends and acquaintances was very large. In September 1850 he was chosen to the Ministry of the Mennonite church, and has been actively engaged in the Ministerial work for forty-six years. He was one of the pastors having charge of the low Strasburg Church, and was a most unassuming man, his patient forbearance and yet Christian firmness; his earnest and conscientious performance of duty, his wisdom and Christian spirit which raised him above the narrow limits of mere sectarian zeal, all combined to make him a power for good, a blessing to his people, and won for him the highest esteem and honor of the community which was made so manifest at his funeral. He was the first Mennonite preacher who introduced regular church services in the English language, and his influence has always been enlisted on the side of educational interests. His fellow ministers as well as others sought him for counsel and advice, and he was called on from far and near to officiate at funerals and other services. He is survived by his wife and the following children: C. R. Herr of Lime Valley; Mrs. Jacob L. Ranck and Mrs. B. H. Shively of Strasburg township and Mrs. Amos Landis of New Danville.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, June 22, at 9 o'clock at the house and at 10 o'clock at the Willow Street Mennonite church. Long before the time for church services to begin carriages were coming to the church from every direction and by half past 9 o'clock the seats, except what were reserved for friends, the aisles and adjoining rooms were packed with people and twice as many standing outside. Bishop Jacob Brubaker of Mt. Joy, and Rev. Abram H. Brubaker spoke at the house. The church services were in charge of Bishop Isaac Eby, who was ordained to the Ministry the same time as Rev. Amos Herr. After earnest and most appropriate remarks by the Bishop, the funeral sermon was preached by Rev. John K. Brubaker of Rohrerstown. This was a most able and worthy discourse, as benefitting to those hearing as it was honoring to the Christian brother who had gone home. The funeral was one of the largest in the history of the county there being about 1500 people present and 516 carriages and buggies were counted. Relatives and church associates, friends business acquaintances from near and from far gathered in kind remembrance of one whom all esteemed.

Our community was surprised on Friday afternoon, June 18th., to learn of the sudden demise of Christian Rohrer of Paradise township. While sitting at the table just at the close of dinner his heart failed in the close of dinner and passed away. Death had no sting, and the grave had no victory, for the Christian can shout triumphantly, "Oh Grave, where is thy sting; Oh Grave, where is thy victory." Christian Rohrer was born August 3, 1818 and his life has been one of great activity and enterprise. He was one of the most prominent farmer and miller in the county. About fifteen years ago he retired from the milling business, which has since then been conducted by his son H. S. Rohrer, who lives at the old homestead. He was also a Director of the Strasburg National Bank. He was a prominent member of the Mennonite church, and was an earnest and active temperance man. Through his influence Paradise township had been cursed with as many drinking places as otherwise would have been licensed within its borders. He believed in total abstinence for the individual, and prohibition for the state and nation. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Martin B. Rohrer, both of Paradise township, and Elmira of Illa, at home.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, at the Strasburg Mennonite church, and the attendance of relatives, friends and acquaintances was very large.

DIED.

KILLED ON THE RAIL.

A Former Lancasterian and His Granddaughter Killed at a Railroad Crossing. The many friends hereabouts of John P. Fowler, formerly of this county, but for many years a resident of Wayne county, Ohio, will be pained to learn of his extremely sad and sudden death, as well as that of his granddaughter, which occurred July 5, while attempting to cross the railroad track near his home. The crossing is at a very dangerous place, and notwithstanding the approaching train the carriage was struck. Both the occupants were killed instantly. Mr. Fowler was accompanying his granddaughter to her home, which was seventeen miles distant, and was one-half mile from her home when the accident happened. His wife was the daughter of George Meek, of Lancaster county, and sister of Philip Meek, of Lampeter. Mrs. Fowler also has several other brothers and sisters residing in this county. A large family is left to mourn the untimely death of a kind father.

Together presents lie;
Here we are taught the solemn truth,
The young, like old, must die.
What tongue can tell such grief as this,
When in one family,
Two such beloved ones are missed—
Gone to eternity.
Here heart from heart is torn away,
A solemn warning given
To all who heedless yet delay
To fit their souls for heaven.

"The manufacturers of the United States to-day hold an enviable position. By the returns from the last census the volume of our manufacturing products exceeds that of any other nation. We not only supply the home market, but can and do produce a large surplus for a foreign market. The Nicaragua Canal would give a larger foreign trade than any other scheme that has ever come before the American people. The building of the Erie Canal has made New York what it is.

concurrency in one narrow valley, on each side, of three outcrops of coal, limestone and iron ore. In the Birmingham district ore is hauled but six, eight or ten miles, coke one-half mile, and the limestone is right at hand. Look any way you please for a mile to a mile and a half, and there is everything needed to open out. The grades favor economical transportation from the mines and quarries to the furnaces, and from the furnaces to the sea. Materials are cheap and abundant, and in such quantities as to promise to last indefinitely. In 1879 Alabama pig was sold at Louisville for $17; to-day it brings but $8.50. But there is profit in the business still, owing to improved working, improved blast, improved furnaces, improved organization and reduced railway rates, and new establishments are constantly being created. Twenty-five years ago Alabama made 11,000 tons of pig; last year it made 840,000 tons. "With this constant march of economy and constant expansion of product, we have got to the point," says the writer, "where we need foreign markets, and we are taking them very rapidly, not only in iron, but in steel."

After noting the fact that iron is becoming a rare metal, and steel now practically fills the market, Mr. Bowron proceeds to show that Birmingham pig is readily converted into good steel. For a long time Northern iron men treated Alabama pig with incredulous contempt. At first they said Alabama could not profitably send pig far north. Then they conceded that it was all very well for the foundry, but was too high in silicon and unfit for the basic open-hearth process, and too high in phosphorus for the acid process, either Bessemer or open-hearth. But by the use of dolomite limestone, which is abundant, all difficulties are overcome, and steel is now made readily at Birmingham. Within eighteen months, it is affirmed, the extensive steel works now under construction will consume a large proportion of the cheap Southern pig which is depressing the Northern market. A new chapter of development will have been opened. Manufacturing industry will tend to further diversification, with the result of adding largely to the wealth and power of the South.

As He Looked at It.

Mrs. Enpeck—Ah, well, things are never so bad but that they might be worse.

Mr. Enpeck (in whom the lion has suddenly been aroused)—I know it. I might be a Mormon and have three or four of you.—Chicago News.

THE WOMEN WHO WAIT.

He went to the war in the morning—
The roll of the drums could be heard,
But he paused at the gate with his mother

For a kiss and a comforting word.
He was full of the dreams and ambitions
That youth is so ready to weave,
And proud of the clank of his sabre
And the chevrons of gold on his sleeve.

He came from the war in the evening—
The meadows were sprinkled with snow,
The drums and the bugles were silent,
And the steps of the soldiers were slow.
He was wrapped in the flag of his country
When they laid him away in the mould,
With the glittering stars of a captain
Replacing the chevrons of gold.

With the heroes who sleep on the hillside
He lies with the flag at his head,
But, blind with the years of her weeping,
His mother yet mourns for her dead.
The soldiers who fall in the battle
May feel but a moment of pain,
But the women who wait in the homesteads
Must dwell with the ghosts of the slain.
