OUR FAMILY LIFE PLAN

- In early 2012, Jonathan was introduced to Life Planning by his mentor, Paul Belair. Paul helped Jonathan create the first version of this life plan.
- Since then, the Life Plan has evolved year over year and now it is updated at least two times per year by Jonathan and Katherine preferably when on vacation somewhere inspiring (in 2020, that inspiring place was Park City, Utah during a family ski trip).

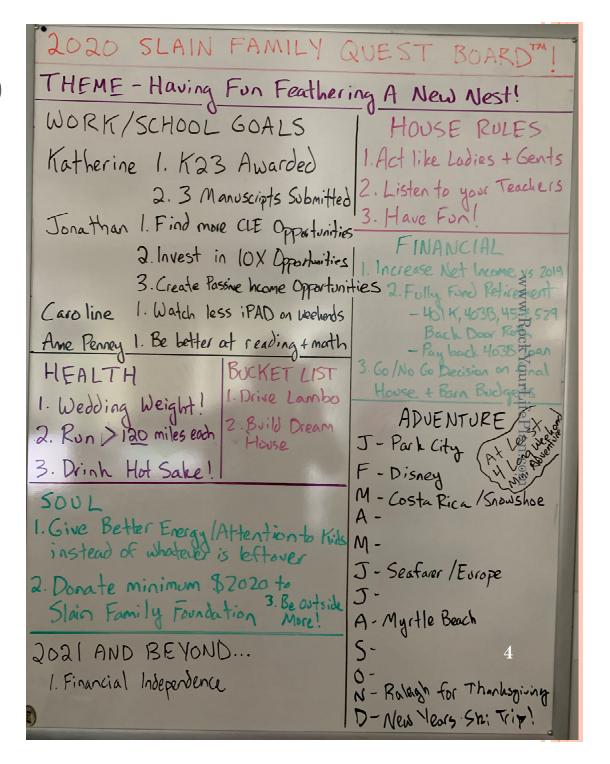

How & Why

- o Our House Rules − 3 simple rules we live by (in this order)
 - Act like ladies and gentlemen
 - Listen to your teachers
 - Have Fun
- Our Legacy:
 - We'll work hard so that we can play hard.
 - We'll provide for our immediate family so that we can live the lifestyle we would like to live now and after retirement, to provide for the comfort of our extended family, and to provide generational wealth for the schooling, businesses, and dreams of our kids and their kids and their kids...
 - We'll be happiest when our family is happy. We will use our good fortune and skills during our 78 years on this planet to build careers that matter and that improve the lives of others and in this way we'll leave a legacy.

CONCLUSIONS

- Life is good right now. We have our health, our marriage is great (we feel like teammates except we're spending a lot of time apart for work), Caroline (our 9 year old) is quick as a whip and Anne Penney (our 7 year old) has a personality completely her own. We love working on our careers and look forward to work almost every morning, well, except for Mondays!
- We are working hard right now so we can play hard now and achieve complete FIRESTORM (financial independence and the ability to retire early so this odyssey really matters) by the time we're 50 years old!
- Along the way, we're checking amazing things off our bucket list, like building a dream home together!
