

Strengths and Concerns Summary Form

Directions: Identify strengths of the child, areas of concern, and potential goals to target with the child.

Think:
Why is it happening?

Child: Michael Teacher: Ms. Terri Coach: Amy Date: 10/2/2020

Some of the child's strengths related to social-emotional development are:

1. Independent, wants to do things on his own
2. Likes to explore classroom
3. Appropriate adaptive skills – no trouble eating or napping

Some areas of concerns for the child's social emotional development:

1. Does not show much empathy when others are upset
2. Hard time playing appropriately alongside other children
3. Does not cooperate with simple requests
4. Needs help to follow classroom routine

Some potential goals to target with the child:

1. Cooperate and follow simple requests
2. Share or take turns with peers
3. Label emotions of others

